IN MEMORY.

James Jobe, aged 32 years departed this life Oct. 4, 1906. He was the victim of that dreaded disease consumption. His illness was of short duration, was taken suddenly. Physicians were called and all that medical skill could accomplish was done, but the destroyer had struck a fatal blow, and brother James being at the time not ready to meet the destroyer, turned his eyes and heart to God and was converted. He lived just a few minutes after his conversion. All was done that loving hands could do to keep him here with us, and O, how sad it was to tell him the last good bye on earth, but God saw fit in his wisdom to call him from us. God's Will be done, not ours.

His wife had been dead about 3 years and while James was so sad and lonely in this gloomy world, his dear wife was enjoying the happy association of holy angels and Redeemed loved ones around God's throne. He was laid to rest in the Jobe cemetery. He leaves one little boy to mourn for papa.

May God bless all the bereaved ones and help us all to be ready when our time shall come.

Home Circle Column.

A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle.

Girls, don't marry the young man who leaves his mother to find her way home as best she can on a dark night, while without a thought or word of apology to the old lady he looks after you. One of these days, when the novelty is off, he will leave you to go alone as best you can, while he seeks his selfish enjoyment at the club.

Be polite to your children. Do you expect them to be mindful of your welfare, to grow glad at your approach to bound away to do your pleasure before your request is half spoken? Then with all your dignity and authority mingle politeness. Give it a niche in your household temple. Only then will you have the true secret of sending out into the world really finished gentlemen and ladies.

The prodigal son is generally welcomed warmly; the light gleams in the window for him, the bells are rung and anthems of joy float upward on the wings of air. But the light dies out and the doors are locked should the Prodigal Daughter struggle homeward through the snow, and on her way falter on the road, and if she falls and dies she may lay where she has dropped by the roadside to be pointed to as a Horrible Example. Is this as it should be?

LIFE'S CROSSES.

Life's crosses take a great many forms. They march along day by day, just as fast as you can beat them; and you can rail at them, if you like, but cannot get rid of them.

All the money in the world will not save you from the troubles, which living entails. If you are worn into this state of existence, and you cannot very well help it, if it be so decreed, you must suffer its inconveniences.

You must deal with flies and mosquitoes, and March winds, and house - cleaning, and fires that won't burn, and the pump frozen up, and your wife's "I told you so," and your husband's "That's just like a woman!"

You must meet and conquer, or die in the attempt, difficulties innumerable. You will have to bear with your neighbors' hens in your flower garden; with dogs that bark in the next yard to keep away burglars; with the musical efforts of itinerary tom cats; with children which come a visiting with people who know your business best; with long - winded sermons; with - but why go on?

Somewhere else draws the prize in the fair where we have a ticket - somebody else gets the "beautiful moss - rose tea set valued at $50," which is given away to purchasers of "our superior teas and coffees," and the stocks we purchased in that wonderful silver mine go down to nothing after we get the certificates.

We have often been there and we know just how it is. We know that very little of the machinery of this world runs to suit our own taste. It rains when we want to have a picnic; it shines when we have set out our tomato and cabbage plants; it thaws and spoils the sleighing when that genteel Mr. Jones has invited us to ride; it

The Better Way

The tissues of the throat are inflamed and irritated; you cough, and there is more irritation—more coughing. You take a cough mixture and it eases the irritation—for a while. You take and it cures the cold. That's what is necessary. It soothes the throat because it reduces the irritation; cures the cold because it drives out the inflammation; builds up the weakened tissues because it nourishes them back to their natural strength. That's how Scott's Emulsion deals with a sore throat, a cough, a cold, or bronchitis.
